Draft Report of the 7th Meeting of the Science-Policy Interface of the UNCCD

I. Welcome address and adoption of the agenda

1. The United Nations Convention to Combat Desertification (UNCCD) Chief of the Science, Technology and Implementation Unit, Mr. Johns Muleso Kharika and the Lead Scientist of the UNCCD, Mr. Barron Joseph Orr welcomed all participants to the 7th Meeting of the Science-Policy Interface (SPI) of the UNCCD at the UN Campus in Bonn. The welcome address by the secretariat emphasized the importance of the SPI to the UNCCD.

2. The meeting was chaired by Ms. Mariam Akhtar-Schuster – co-Chair of the SPI. Omer Muhammad Raja, SPI co-Chair and Chair of the Bureau of the Committee on Science and Technology (CST), participated in the meeting through video conferencing. Out of the 41 participants, 24 were members and observers of the SPI¹ (for the list of participants – see Annex 2).

3. The agenda (see Annex 1) was adopted without amendments.

II. Introduction to the SPI

4. The secretariat referred to how the SPI works,² as it translates current science into policy-relevant recommendations resulting from assessment and synthesis of current science. The mandate of the SPI is to provide the CST with thematic guidance on knowledge requirements for implementing the UNCCD.³

5. The secretariat recalled the context of the work of the SPI and presented decisions relevant to science which were taken at the thirteenth session of the Conference of the Parties (COP 13) including decisions 1/COP.13, 2/COP.13, 3/COP.13, 7/COP.13, 15/COP.13, 18/COP.13, 19/COP.13, 20/COP.13, 21/COP.13, 22/COP.13, 23/COP.13, 27/COP.13, 28/COP.13, 29/COP.13, 30/COP.13, and 31/COP.13.⁴

¹ The UNCCD Science-Policy Interface (SPI) was renewed at the UNCCD Conference of Parties (COP) 13 in September 2017, Ordos, China. The SPI is composed by 10 globally selected independent scientists, 5 regionally nominated independent scientists, 5 elected CST Bureau members (science-focused policy makers) and 5 observer organization representatives (see <<https://knowledge.unccd.int/science-policy-interface/members-and-observers-science-policy-interface>>).

² See <<https://knowledge.unccd.int/home/science-policy-interface/how-spi-works>>

⁴ A compilation of these decisions is available at the SPI Extranet: <https://knowledge.unccd.int/sites/default/files/inline-files/Decision23_COP11_0.pdf>

6. The secretariat also introduced the Terms of Reference (TOR) of the SPI⁵, Conflict of Interest Policy⁶, Code of Conduct⁷, and Communication Strategy⁸ as agreed by the CST Bureau.

III. Facilitating communication and collaboration

7. The secretariat presented ways to facilitate external and internal communication and collaboration:

- The external communication: included introducing the UNCCD website, the Knowledge Hub, and ideas for SPI dissemination and outreach, including approaches for social media and formal media communication.
- The internal communication: included introducing the SPI Extranet as a web-based platform which can be used for collaboration, including sharing publications and documents to produce joint outputs in the frame of the SPI work programme 2018-2019.

IV. Context for the SPI work programme 2018-2019

8. To provide the overall context for the SPI work programme 2018-2019, the following presentations were made by SPI members on the following SPI publications which were produced during the biennium 2016-2017:

- Sustainable Land Management Contribution to Successful Land-based Climate Change Adaptation and Mitigation*,⁹ which was welcomed by the country Parties to the UNCCD in decision 18/COP.13;
- The *Scientific Conceptual Framework for Land Degradation Neutrality*¹⁰ which was endorsed by the country Parties to the UNCCD in decision 18/COP.13.

9. Further, the secretariat presented some of its ongoing initiatives and the potential contribution by the SPI to these initiatives:

- The UNCCD Gender Plan of Action adopted by decision 30/COP.13;¹¹
- The UNCCD Drought Initiative and the Drought Resilience, Adaptation and Management Policy Framework as mandated in decision 29/COP.13;
- Background and progress on the development of SDG indicator 15.3.1 "Proportion of land that is degraded over total land area" and its sub-indicators land cover change, land productivity and carbon stocks.

V. The extended SPI Work Programme 2018-2019 – Introduction and Roadmap

10. The SPI Work Programme 2018-2019 (Annex 3), which was based adopted by decision 21/COP 13, was introduced by the secretariat. The secretariat also presented an extended version¹² of the work programme which included, under each objective, some potential elements for consideration and discussion by the SPI. Finally, the secretariat presented a generic roadmap to COP 14.

VI. The extended SPI Work Programme 2018-2019 – From Plenary to Breakout Groups

11. Participants split into the three breakout groups to consider and refine the potential elements of the extended SPI Work Programme 2018-2019. Each breakout group addressed one of the three objectives of the SPI Work Programme and began to frame an approach to producing outputs

Annex 3 – Science-Policy Interface Work Programme (2018–2019)

Science-Policy Interface work programme for the biennium 2018–2019

Objectives and deliverables

Objective	Deliverable
1. Provide refined guidance for implementation of land degradation neutrality. (LDN)
1.1 Provide advice on the design and implementation of LDN-related policies and initiatives that bring about multiple environmental and development benefits and synergies with other Rio conventions, in particular for climate change adaptation and mitigation actions.	Guidelines on how to identify and design scientifically sound and practical LDN-related policies and initiatives. Provision of scientific assistance to the Global Mechanism in supporting LDN-related policies and initiatives.
1.2 Provide science-based evidence on the potential contribution of LDN to enhancing the well-being and livelihoods as well as the environmental conditions of people affected by desertification/land degradation and drought.	Report providing science-based evidence of how land-based interventions can improve the well-being and livelihoods of people while simultaneously enhancing the state of the environment.
2. Based on a review of existing synthesis reports and, if necessary, referring to primary literature, provide guidance to support the adoption and implementation of land-based interventions for drought management and mitigation.	Science-policy brief and, if necessary, a report highlighting the potential of appropriate land-based interventions to mitigate the effects of drought by increasing the resilience of ecosystems and the socio-economic well-being of populations.

Coordination activities

Main Activity	Sub-activities
1. Follow up on the land degradation and restoration assessment (LDRA) conducted by the Intergovernmental Science–Policy Platform on Biodiversity and Ecosystems Services (IPBES), and review the IPBES Global Assessment of Biodiversity and Ecosystem Services and its associated summary for policymakers if this report is available in time for the Science-Policy Interface (SPI) to complete the review.	The SPI will review the LDRA and analyse its key messages relevant for the United Nations Convention to Combat Desertification (UNCCD) for presentation at the fourteenth session of the Committee on Science and Technology (CST 14). The SPI will also review the key messages of the IPBES Global Assessment relevant for the UNCCD regarding options to protect and use biodiversity and ecosystems, as well as the benefits they provide for people, for presentation at the CST 14.
2. Strengthen cooperation with the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) within the framework of its agenda, particularly regarding its special report on climate change and land (SRCL) and its Sixth Assessment Report (AR6).	In accordance with the procedures established by the IPCC, the SPI will contribute to the SRCL and the AR6.
3. Follow up on current cooperation and explore future means and topics for cooperation with the Intergovernmental Technical Panel on Soils (ITPS).	The SPI will cooperate with the ITPS on topics to be jointly agreed by the SPI and the ITPS, bearing in mind the importance of soil organic carbon to land degradation neutrality (LDN). The SPI should be involved in any follow-up activities emerging from the conclusions of the Global Symposium on Soil Organic Carbon, including the organization of a possible second meeting in cooperation with IPCC and other organizations.

Main Activity	Sub-activities
4. Cooperate with the International Resources Panel of the United Nations Environment Programme on preparing a report on land restoration and the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).	The SPI will contribute to the preparation and review of the report. Based on this report, the SPI will outline policy-oriented options on how land restoration contributes to LDN in the context of DLDD and the SDGs.
5. Contribute to the possible development of a second edition of the Global Land Outlook (GLO 2) and other UNCCD science-based communications, as appropriate.	The SPI will participate in the steering committee, development and review process for a possible GLO 2 and will be invited to contribute to the review and, as appropriate, to the development of other UNCCD science-based communications.
6. Cooperate with the Global Land Indicators Initiative (GLII) of the United Nations Human Settlements Programme to ensure the harmonization of land indicators developed by the GLII to measure tenure security, with land indicators used for measuring progress towards LDN.	The SPI may provide input to the GLII to ensure the harmonization of land indicators developed by the GLII with land indicators used by the UNCCD on the basis of existing data sources and standards that are globally collectible and comparable.
